

Where do you think Lexington can support more housing?

Lexington's Planning Office invites all residents and community members to participate in a creative housing workshop. This will be a collaborative planning exercise where all community members are invited to consider locations for higher density housing.

A new state law demands that MBTA served communities adopt zoning that allows multi-family housing (a building for 3+ dwellings).

Please join us for an interactive mapping workshop, open conversation, and citizen planning effort to help determine possible locations for multi-family housing zoning districts. Participants will be provided with an introduction of the law and will be asked to identify possible zoning districts on maps.

Tuesday, October 25, 2022

6:30 – 8:30 pm

Community Center Dining Room
39 Marrett Road, Lexington

The resident-created maps will be used to help the Planning Board formulate a proposed zoning amendment to bring to a future Town Meeting vote.
